

X. Other – E-Sign Act

The Interim Final Rules provided guidance on the timing and delivery of electronic disclosures. Pursuant to the Interim Final Rules, disclosures can be provided by e-mail or can be made available at another location such as the institution's web site. If a disclosure, such as an account statement or a notice of change of terms, is provided at a web site, an institution must notify the consumer of the disclosure's availability by e-mail. In addition, the disclosures must remain available on the web site for 90 days.

On August 3, 2001, the FRB lifted the mandatory compliance date of October 1, 2001, and directed institutions to follow their existing procedures² or, alternatively, to comply with the Interim Final Rules until permanent rules are issued. Once permanent final rules are issued, the Board expects to afford institutions a reasonable period of time to comply with those rules.
